

Good And Bad Guys Cheered-Hissed In 'Perils Of The City'

Melodrammer Pleases
First-Night Audience

"Perils of the City" a fast-moving, up-to-the-minute musical comedy by Dr. James R. Wilson, head of the Department of English, and Beaumont Breustle was practically assured a "smash" rating after last night's initial performance in the gymnasium.

The play, which is this year's joint production of the Vanguard Theater under the direction of David Adams and of the Music Department under the direction of Miss Harriet Fulton, combines both melodrama and music to create a unique form of entertainment.

The script, by Beaumont Breustle, is derived from the old English melodrama "Ticket of Leave Man" which introduced "Hawshaw the Detective", and is full of all the traditional trials and tribulations found in a self-respecting melodrama. Sprinkled throughout the story are many bright and sparkling tunes by Dr. Wilson. These tunes range from can-can girl choruses to tender love ballads and give to the play a charm not usually associated with typical melodrama.

The story takes place in the Tea Garden in New York City where the various "perils of the city" occur. The cast is headed by Ann Howell who plays May Edwards, a shy singer who can't gain the appeal of the public and Jerry Coates who plays Robert Brierly, the hero who falls in love with May. Other leading roles in the cast are played by Alice McBride who appears as Emily St. Evremont, an excellent singer, and Geron Brown, a poor boy who sells pig's feet for a living. The Villains are played by Bobby Holcomb and Charles Duncan. Jimmy Jinks plays the feared and respected "Hawshaw the Detective." The cast is supported by the college chorus and by Belle Isle (Connie Brown) and her Can-Can Girls.

"Perils of the City" will continue tonight and Wednesday at 8:00 p. m. in the Gymnasium. Admission is 50 and 75 cents.

A large audience hissed the villain, cheered the hero and laughed at the antics of the characters that make up the tune-filled musical melodrama "Perils of the City" which opened Monday night for a three-night run in the UTMB Gym. Some even joined the on-stage

Dean Meek Elected President Of TCA

Paul Meek, dean of the University of Tennessee at Martin, was elected president of the Tennessee College Association at its annual meeting held in Nashville recently.

Other officers are Raymond Rankin, president of Tusculum College, vice president; Dean R. F. Thomason, director of admissions and records at The University of Tennessee, secretary; A. B. MacKay, president of Trevecca Nazarene College, and Dean N. C. Beasley of Middle Tennessee State College, members of the executive committee.

Dr. Madison Sarritt, vice chancellor of Vanderbilt University, is the immediate past president.

Among other items of business, the association passed a resolution commending the basic purpose of the over-all provisions of the National Defense Education Act of 1958. Some changes relating to certain provisions of the act and the administration of the program were recommended.

Dedication Of New Building Planned

Tentative plans for the dedication of the Administration Building, May 14 have been made by a UTMB faculty committee and U-T Knoxville officials, Dean Paul Meek announced today.

Dr. C. E. Brehm, president of the University, will serve as master of ceremonies and will make the acceptance address at the dedication. A number of University officials and trustees are expected to attend.

Governor Buford Ellington has been invited to deliver the concluding address at the dedicatory ceremonies.

UTMB students will be invited to attend.

U-T FINE ARTS HEAD TO PRESENT RECITAL

Dr. Alfred Schmied, head of the Fine Arts at U-T Knoxville, will give a piano recital at UTMB gymnasium April 29, at 8 p.m.

In the spring of 1958, Dr. Schmied played in four European capitals, including Vienna and London. He has also toured the United States extensively.

Appearing in the chorus line of the currently playing "Perils of the City" are Belle Isle (Connie Brown) and her original "can-can dancers" (l to r) Sally Roberts, Nancy Hurst, Alice Claire Freeman, Paula Prather, Tommie Miles, and Linda Cheatham.

MOVE TO BUILDING HAS BEEN POSTPONED

M-Day for moving into the new Administration Building, originally scheduled for the middle of April, has been postponed.

Re-laying a steam line and a wildcat strike at the manufacturing plant which is to furnish office equipment are reasons for the delay.

The moving date probably will be some time in May.

Murray Wesleyans To Give Program

The Wesley Foundation of Murray State College will present an hour program of devotion and recreation at the UTMB Wesley Foundation April 22 at 6:45 p.m.

The Murray State group will make up a deputation team of approximately fifteen members. These deputation teams of the college foundations have as their main functions to visit other college Wesley Foundations, presenting a program and learning of their fellowship.

The program set up by the group seems very promising. Everyone is invited to attend.

Campus Publication Is Another UTMB First

The beginning of the new month also brought in the beginning of a new campus publication, PROLEGOMENA. The magazine is the firstfruits of the Literary Club which was first organized at UTMB last fall. Members of the editorial staff responsible for the new literary venture are Ann Pritchett, Stanford, editor; Kathryn Bomar, associate editor; John Joel Harris, poetry editor and Dr. James R. Wilson, advisor.

Following an anonymous introduction "Prolegomena To An F" are compositions familiar to all freshmen students at UTMB. Themes written in 111 and 112 English courses. These particular ones were chosen because of their form and originality to appear as "examples of good theme writing" on subjects of college adjustment and the ever-young subject of first love.

Several poems by an English staff member, Curtis Whittington, Jr. also appear in the magazine. One of the poems, "Song of Genesis and Cessation," has appeared in PEGASUS, poetry magazine published in New York City.

A critical analysis and three short stories written by students in various English courses offered here complete the pleasing assortment of student and faculty offerings to the literary world.

Adding the spice of laughter (or not-too-fond recollections to some) are "gems" typical of the grammatical "comedy of errors."

Copies of PROLEGOMENA may be obtained at the office of the English Department.

Junior Class Plans Natchez Park Outing

The Junior class is planning a fun-packed outing at Natchez Trace State Park on April 25. This social is to be for all the Juniors and their guests. During the afternoon and early evening there will be swimming, boating, fishing, dancing, table tennis, games and plenty of food for everyone. Cars will be leaving about 1:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the 25th.

Jazz Trio Concert Scheduled April 16

Bernard Peiffer, the influential French jazz pianist known alternately as "Le Most" and "La Greatest," with Gus Namoth playing bass and Gery Segal playing drums, has been scheduled by the Westbury County Mutual Concert Association for a concert at the UTMB gymnasium next Thursday, April 16 at 8:00 p.m. The program is open to association members, UTMB students, and Martin public school students.

BERNARD PEIFFER

The Peiffer Trio won high acclaim at the Newport Jazz Festival both in 1957 and 1958. The classically trained M. Peiffer has achieved fame in other jazz circles as well. He was the first non-American to win France's Grand Prix du Disque in jazz; he won it twice. Twice also, he has won the International Jazz Award, the only musician ever to be so honored. He has been given the highest praise from the world's leading jazz critics and has had marathon runs in the great jazz rooms of Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia, where he makes his home, and New York. At the Philadelphia Academy of Music he split a program, soloing Ravel, Debussy, Prokofiev and an atonal composition of his own, "Black Moon," during the first half, then, changing from tuxedo to sports jacket, launching into a second-half session of pure and joyous ensemble jazz. Leonard Bernstein was one of the sponsors of the event.

The program in Martin will include such favorites as "Autumn Leaves," "Yesterdays," and "I Could Write A Book," as well as more extensive examples of jazz virtuosity such as the Prelude, Fur-el and Trio on "Lullaby of Birdland." These, along with most of the selections to be performed on his two Decca record releases "The Astounding Bernard Peiffer," and "Piano a la Mood" and his EmArcy release "Bernie's Tunes."

Lee Wood Jones Is 'Aggie-Of-Month'

The Ag Club held a joint meeting with the Home Economics Club on Monday, March 23. Melvin Humphreys was in charge of the group's folk games and other recreation which everyone seemed to enjoy.

On Monday, April 6, the club met to begin plans for the social set for April 17. It was decided to have barbecued chicken supper and a hay-ride. All Ag Club members are urged to attend.

Also at this meeting Lee Wood Jones, senior, was selected as Aggie-Of-Month.

Vivien Gore won the door prize; refreshments were served; and the meeting adjourned.

GROVE IS AHEAD IN SPEECH AND DRAMA

Grove High School of Paris took the lion's share of the honors at the District 2 Contest of the Tennessee High School Speech and Drama League held at the University of Tennessee at Martin Saturday.

Grove students won six first places out of ten: Richard Dunlap and Johnny Humphreys, affirmative debating team; Jack Irion, extemporaneous speaking; Donny Buckley, original oratory for girls; Nancy Kinder, declamation; Patsy McClure, humorous reading and Suzanne Looney, dramatic reading.

Other first place winners were: Ben Barnett and Max James, Humboldt, negative debating team; Jerry Lee of Ridgely, original oratory for boys; Glenda Roberts, Delores Jackson, Sandra Westbrook, Sherry Oliver, Jerry Rawls, Dale Hawkins and Junior Harris, all of Palmersville, first place in one-act play; and Betsy Barton of Greenfield, oral poetry interpretation.

The winners were awarded certificates of merit at a luncheon held in the cafeteria.

In the afternoon the 125 contestants were guests of the Vanguard Theater and the Music Department at a preview showing of "The Perils of the City."

The District 2 winners will compete in the state contest of the League to be held in Murfreesboro April 25.

Anderson Elected To State BSU Office

Don Anderson, UTMB junior education student, was elected West Tennessee regional member-at-large of the Tennessee Baptist Student Convention at its annual meeting held recently in Knoxville.

Other officers are Harry Hollis Jr., U-T student from Nashville, BSU president; Jerald Swaim, Union University, West Tennessee regional chairman; Shirley Robinson, Lincoln Memorial University, East Tennessee chairman; Stan Johnson, E.T.S.C., East Tennessee member-at-large; Donnie Brooks, Tennessee Tech, Middle Tennessee chairman and Bobby Kerr, M.T.S.C., Middle Tennessee member-at-large. Hollis succeeds Charles Emerson, U. T. medical student at Memphis, as president.

One of the convention's outstanding speakers, Dr. Ralph Overman of the Institute of Nuclear Studies at Oak Ridge, discussed the moral issues of nuclear fallout at the afternoon session at First Baptist Church, Knoxville. He said that values received from nuclear tests far outweigh the potential disadvantages at the present level of fallout. He said that he favors stopping all nuclear tests as soon as possible and testing only when absolutely necessary.

Dr. Overman stated that the fallout problem is basically a religious rather than scientific problem.

Living by Christian principles and a Christian personality were among the approaches cited Saturday by Dr. W. Fred Kendall, executive secretary of the Tennessee Baptist Convention, for winning others to Christianity.

Folk Festival To Be Held On UTMB Campus April 25

Approximately 100
Are Seeking Degrees

*Y. F. And H. And Phys
Ed Sponsor Event

The Y. F. and H. Club and the Physical Education Department of the University of Tennessee at Martin are sponsoring a Folk Festival on April 25 to be held here on campus. This is the first event of its kind to be presented here at UTMB.

About 100 candidates are seeking degrees at UTMB for the year 1958-59. This will be the largest graduating class since the degree-granting institution was founded in 1951-52.

The first of the annual year-end activities to be held on the campus will be Alpha Omicron to be held this year on May 23.

Encouraging Commencement will be a joint ceremony with the year-end. It will be held June 7. Wayne Fisher, UTMB trustee from Dresden, will be the speaker at the commencement.

This will be the first year that there will be no two-year graduates at UTMB, and also the first year that degrees will be awarded to education students.

ASC Election Is Set For April 21

The All Students Club Council at its April meeting selected nominees for next year's officers. They will be chosen in a campus-wide election April 21.

Names to appear on the ballot for president will be James Graves, Steve Haynes, and Wayne Martin. The two nominees for vice-president are Lige Turman and Johnny Ward; and those for secretary are Mary Lou Harding, Carol Lea, and Melba Whitesides.

Committees were appointed to carry out Alpha Omicron plans, to examine the club's laws and by-laws for possible revision, and to investigate the possibilities of securing a new meeting place.

The club members discussed suggesting to the social committee of the school that minor socials not be scheduled on the calendar and that each organization possibly schedule one major social per year.

The Council is now in the process of selecting a person to receive an ASC Citizenship Award for this year. The cash award will possibly be presented at Alpha Omicron.

Clubs and organizations of every type have been contacted from all parts of the state concerning participation in this Festival. The sponsors are in hopes of generating a paramount interest in this program in order to renew the enjoyment that folk customs have held for people over the centuries. The Festival is open to any group or individual, and because of the the officials are hoping to get a wide variety of traditional Tennessee folk customs, songs, and dances. Our civilization is changing before it many of the folk heritages which have gone into the making of our country, but the need for them has not passed. If they are to survive, conscious effort must be made to hold and revive them. The Folk Festival is such an effort.

Anyone interested in taking part in this Festival either as an individual or as part of a group contact Melvin A. Humphreys, Remember the date April 25.

Miss Sarah Gertrude Knott, president of the National Folk Festival for the past twenty-three years, will attend the UTMB festival as an observer. Top performers here may be invited to participate in the national festival to be held in Nashville May 6-10.

Weather And Crowd Smile On Open House

Some 1200 high school seniors and visitors from various schools in West Tennessee participated in the Open House activities at UTMB on April 2, Thursday morning. The day was filled with student-conducted tours of the campus and visits to the departments at UTMB. At 11:30 a.m. all of the guests filled the gymnasium to witness a short program highlighted by a warm welcome from Dean Paul Meek. A gratuitous lunch was served at noon followed by entertainment furnished by college personnel. The formal afternoon program was capped off by an impressive exhibition by the ROTC Band and Drill Team.

The afternoon visit was left to the prerogative of each individual guest as to which department he should choose to revisit. Each department, along with advisors stood ready the entire afternoon to extend additional information to any interested student.

The West Tennessee Typewriting Contest was conducted in the new administration building. The attractive new home for many of our departments, in addition to the administration staff, gleamed and sparkled as only an immaculate new building can.

The balmy spring day (especially ordered for Open House) provided for this event was sandwiched in between two rainy dismal affairs. Those of us who can remember previous soggy arrangements were especially proud of the nice weather.

Home Ec Department Publishes Brochure

A colorful brochure telling the story of home economics offerings at The University of Tennessee at Martin has been published by the department.

The new pamphlet was designed by Miss Mary Armstrong, Miss Aaltje Van Denburg, Miss Ida Flowers, and other members of the department.

The front cover, designed by Miss Van Denburg in orange and blue, bears the message "Designed For You By The Department of Home Economics."

The inside and back of the three-fold booklet contains action pictures of seven UTMB students and graduates and reading matter on the six areas of study in home economics available at UTMB.

Johnnie Alexander Heads Home Ec Club

The Rose Room of Smith's Cafe in Fulton was the scene of the 150 Home Economics Club Banquet, Friday, April 3. Pink snapdragons, compliments of the Agriculture Department and horticulture staff, were arranged in bud vases on the single tables and an arrangement was in the center of the head table. Place cards were authentic reproductions of the American Home Economics Association pin and miniature men's and women's aprons were placed on the tables as mementos, as well as the annual Home Economics Yearbook and the latest Home Economics bulletin, "Designed for You."

Upon the arrival of the eighty home economics students and their dates and the staff and guests, Phyllis Boggan welcomed the group and presented Mrs. Paul Meek, who gave the invocation. After the dinner of barbecued chicken, baked potatoes, green beans, rolls, tossed salad, and pineapple upside-down cake, the program proceeded with the introduction of the home economics staff. Also recognized along with this group was Miss Dorothy Reams, the department secretary.

Awards for the evening were presented by Miss Mary Rachel Armstrong, head of the UTMB department of home economics, and they included: Home Economics Favorite Girl, Kay Kerr of Savannah; Home Economics Favorite Boy, Mark Farrar of Shelbyville; Miss Betty Lamm (Symbol of American Home Economics Association), Eleanor Gresham of Cordova; $25 scholarship winner, Eleanor Nichols of Friendship; and Most Deserving Senior, Eleanor Gresham. A new award was presented for the first time to Mr. Earl Knepp, the Home Economics Faculty Favorite, chosen by the

A novelty skit entitled "What's a Home Ec?" was presented by Melba Whitesides, Nancy Hurst, Mary Farrar and Alice Claire Freeman, and it was narrated by Eleanor Gresham, the retiring president, who also announced the 1959-60 club officers. They include: Johnnie Alexander, president; Melba Whitesides, first vice-president; Margaret Nutt, second vice-president; Nell Brown Williams, secretary; Katherine Younger, treasurer; Mary Farrar, reporter; and Alice Claire Freeman, ASC representatives. Sponsors are Misses Aaltje Van Denburg and Mary Ida Flowers.

The speaker for the evening, Mr. Henry Allison of the UTMB physical science department, was presented by Phyllis Boggan, and his topic was "Conquest of Space," a subject of interest to both men and women attending.

WHERE WERE STUDENTS AND FACULTY?

"Come on in; there's plenty of room for all of you!" These were the jesting yet ironically true words directed to late-comers who went to hear Willem L. Oltmans, a correspondent permanently stationed at the United Nations, and secured as a speaker for UTMB at great cost.

Late-comers and all, however, the attendance at this extremely thought-provoking assembly program was even more shameful than at other times this year. Of course, it may well be that UTMB students and faculty who failed to attend exhibited a greater sense of "correctly placed values" than those who did.

After all, of what significance is an intelligent understanding of what's going on outside the campus of the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch, or meeting a challenge to become better-informed? Surely going on with classes (certainly a daring venture) or cramming for a 2:07 quiz or answering the strong call of the warm sun that day to sun bathe, play tennis, throw baseballs, or just quietly sit and commune was of vastly more lasting importance.

However, it is reported that among those who rejected these "worthwhile" activities and remained an hour later to discuss where we fit into the world picture and an inkling of what the world picture is, there were those (faculty and students) who became concerned enough to begin plans for a weekly publication of unbiased world news summaries.

To coin a favorite phrase of Oltman's: "Fantastic!"—Or is it?

HATS OFF!

To the Literary Club for their publication of PROLEGOMENA. (To borrow their style: "It were a gud peaces of wel-organysed, culleful artikals.")

To the men's tennis team and baseball team for a perfect season thus far.

To the Young Farmers and Homemakers Club for their industrious planning and preparation for the Junior Folk Festival.

To all the boys working to shape up a track team for UTMB. It should prove to be not only the realization of a much-needed activity on campus student-interestwise but also area-interestwise.

VOTING PRIVILEGE SHOULD BECOME HABIT

Next Tuesday, April 21, a group of students and their sponsor will rise early in the morning in order to prepare for the carrying out of what we usually consider a very precious privilege—the voting system of the school.

Perhaps it has been little known or recognized before; but this group—the UTMB Election Commission—has offered its services several times this year. Sometimes these services resulted in a number of hours devoted to counting votes. At others they finished so early that they would wander dazedly around during the empty hours suddenly appearing on their carefully planned schedules.

With a most important election of All Students Club officers coming up next Tuesday, the Election Commissioners are feeling elated at the thought of having an honest night's work ahead of them counting ballots.

Don't disappoint them.

Two Hundred Attend Music Festival Here

Approximately 200 piano, voice and choral students participated in the West Tennessee Music Festival at The University of Tennessee at Martin in an all-day meet Tuesday, March 31.

Participants were rated by judges from the music faculties of U.T., Knoxville, Murray State and UTMB. Miss Harriet Fulton, head of the UTMB Music Department, was festival director.

Those contestants who were given superior ratings were selected to appear on the evening program held in the gymnasium as the final event of the day.

Dutch Correspondent Chides Uninformed

An informative lecture on American indifference and diplomatic blunders was delivered March 31 in the UTMB gymnasium by Willem L. Oltmans, a former correspondent of the Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant in Jakarta and permanently stationed, since early 1957, at the United Nations. He is now on a nationwide lecture tour through this country.

In citing examples of the misinformed, or little informed, American public the Dutch reporter criticized the U.S. press for giving too little information on Indonesia and other Asian-African nations. He said that newspapers that do give much information, as the New York Times, which has stationed a reporter in Jakarta, tend to only come out with sensational headlines regading Indonesian troubles and complications rather than supply the readers with substantial features giving the necessary background information. "In order to read up on news from Jakarta," the reporter said, "I had to subscribe to the Christian Science Monitor, rather than to the New York Times since the Monitor printer, for instance recently, not only a one page Summit Interview by William Stringer with President Sukarno, but also carried in past weeks a series of over twenty lengthy articles by Ronald Stead straight from Jakarta."

The correspondent, after explaining that due to the "fantastically" small crowd present, he could not present the detailed accounts he had prepared. Instead he directed the thinking of the group along lines of regaining foreign prestige which the U.S. had held during and immediately following World War II.

He suggested a decrease in foreign aid and an increase in salary for our ambassadors who are now chosen for the most part on the basis of self-supporting ability. He also encouraged an increase in teachers' salaries and other educational funds to provide for better educated and better informed instructors and students. "Begin improving at home first," he said. He stressed the point that it is "fantastic" how little concerned the youth of American, the deciders of the world's destiny, are about foreign affairs. He challenged the group to read books, pamphlets, and papers and especially the book The Ugly American in order to make themselves better-informed.

In the open question and discussion period which lasted more than an hour for some, Oltmans said that what the U.S. probably needs to be shaken out of its apathy is to have a war fought here as there had been in his country. Americans are "fantastic" when involved in a war; they stick together and are really "on the ball."

"However," he said, "since the U.S. will only have fifteen minutes to 'get on the ball' should another war evolve, and since I have no desire to go through that mess' again, I've picked out a remote little island in the South Pacific to which I plan to retreat this time."

Student Wives Plan Ice Cream Supper

By JANE MITCHELL

The Student Wives' Club held its first meeting of the spring quarter Thursday evening, April 2, in the student lounge. Eugenia Jetton, the new president, presided over the meeting. The minutes were read and approved and the roll was called. Fourteen members were present.

The treasurer's report was given and various committees for the new quarter were appointed.

The possibility of an ice cream supper later in the quarter was discussed. After the business was completed the group played rook. Lemon pie and Pepsi Colas were served by Jane Gregory and Jane Mitchell.

Musical Comedy Is Literary Club Theme

At the meeting of the Literary Club held in March a program concerning musical comedy was presented. This program was under the direction of Jimmy Jenkins, who told the group about the history of the musical comedy.

The club members then heard excerpts from "The Marriage of Figaro," "Lord High Executioner," "Porgy and Bess," "Oklahoma," and "The Music Man."

Adam Hall Is Named BSU'er-Of-Month

Adam Hall, BSU president, was selected BSU'er-of-the-Month for March. Adam has served on the BSU Council for two years. He was stewardship chairman last year. His perseverance and determination to serve Christ to the utmost has made him a worthy candidate for this award at the end of every month, according to his co-workers.

At the close of school last year, President Jimmy Blankenship recognized Adam as the BSU'er-of-the-Year. And while this year is not complete, there is much speculation to the effect that he deserves to be called the BSU'er-of-the-Year for 1958-59.

Adam is a member of the First Baptist Church in Martin and has been active in all its activities. He is a junior in education. His plans are to go into a church-related vocation such as the directorship of a Baptist Student Union.

Fashions and Fads

By ELEANOR GRESHAM

Spring has sprung! It's the same old statement for the same season of the year, but it's always exciting for this most special time of the year to roll around—even if they do keep cutting the trees and moving benches. Spring sees UTMB campus in all its glory, as well as the co-eds in their glory fashion-wise.

One sure sign of spring is the occupation of the tennis courts; why you can't "stir 'em with a stick!" And it seems Burmudas are "the thing" for the feminine favors of this sport. One tennis team member, Melba Whitesides, has selected a matched short and shirt outfit for her antics on the asphalt. A plaid in vacado, blue, and pink is deftly moulded into a sporty combination of sleeveless blouse with convertible collar and cool looking Burmudas.

While Melba may match her outfit itself, there are others on campus who have just matched with each other. Sammy Ingram and Joyce Vineyard bring to mind the budding of the trees as they don their avocado shorts of polished cotton. With matching belts, they are perfect for wearing one's blouse in or out. But Sammy and Joyce are the only ones who have pulled such a trick, just as spring is full of tricks and surprises.

Marjorie Anthony and Linda Woodard have done the same thing only in a someone different manner. Marjorie selected her Burmudas in a plaid of red, gray, green, styled with a patch pocket in the back, while Linda Sue chose the popular matched skirt and blouse combination which are so good this spring. Her sleeveless blouse with convertible collar features a bias strip and band down the front, and the slim skirt is styled with two set-in pockets in the front and a kick pleat, for plenty of "kickin' up her heels."

While the tennis courts are a perfect spot for "kickin' up one's heels," as well as getting a tan, there's another favorite of the majority of the girls—the room of the women's dorm. Here one can view not only the campus far and wide, but the latest in swimwear fashions such as the knit suits which are still very popular again this year. Sue Williams and Pat Patterson selected theirs in Nile green and brilliant blue.

Joy Yates keeps the popular style in style as she suns in a black suit shirred at the hip-line and moulded at the top with simple lines, while Cynthia McIlwain turns the tide and greets all in her suit of kelly green. It is fashioned with a diagonal band evolving into a buckled effect at the shoulder, while it is repeated toward the hip-line. These are a few of the multitude of fashions viewed on the UTMB private sun beach!

Just as everyone was really getting friends with Ole Sol, seems Ole Man Winter dropped in for a last look at things, and the roof was vacated. The occasion called for some "not so springy" outfits as the one Lorraine Fields possesses. In a lightweight gabardine plaid of blue, fuschia, black and other blending colors, it features a slim skirt and a jerkin top, or overblouse with V neckline. For the more springlike days, Lorraine combines it with various blouses, but for Ole Man Winter it's a sweater of blending blue.

Outfits such as this are good on into the later part of April as they will feature short jackets and overblouses. But some gals are persistent as Kay Kerr and continues to wear their gay cottons, regardless of who tries to send spring reeling. One of her gayest is a red, black and white plaid with full skirt and novelty neckline with a "v-ed" collar. It features three-quarter length sleeves so appropriate for the cooler days when spring is evident but can't be felt so well.

There's no doubt that spring has sprung by the many evidences about campus—scenery as well as co-eds; here's hoping that as it continues to "spring" you'll find yourself decked in the latest Fashions and Fads!

Cadets Take Trip To Fort Campbell

Monday, April 6, five cadets, accompanied by Sergeant Butler, went to Fort Campbell, Kentucky, for a two-day orientation visit. Included in the UTMB delegation were Cadets Joe Gunn, Morgan Fields, Martin Arnold, Charles Grooms, and Bob Brandon.

Upon arrival, the group prepared for a banquet in honor of Brigadier General Timmings. The second day was begun with a trip to the jump zone where they witnessed a personnel and heavy equipment parachute jump. From this scene, they went to the theatre for an address by General Timmings and other officers.

The afternoon brought forth a visit to the airfield where a demonstration of several artillery pieces was presented. Every one present was especially interested in seeing one of the Army rockets, the Honest John.

The Martin group represented the University along with seventy cadets from Knoxville, and all participating reported an enjoyable visit and urge and even better attendance next year.

The ROTC will have an annual Federal Inspection on Monday, April 28. Inspectors will be from the 12th U.S. Corps, Atlanta, Georgia, and from other universities within the 12th Corps area.

The rifle team made an outstanding showing in the 3rd Army Interscholastic Match, placing seventh of eighty-one teams. The team was selected to participate in the national match, an achievement never before accomplished by this school, and they certainly proved their abilities.

The rifle team will participate in the Tennessee Invitational Match on May 2 at Murfreesboro.

The ROTC Band under the direction of Leon Partain is slated to appear at the Strawberry Festival in May, accompanied by the Honorary Cadet Sponsors.

The lease broker looked at the high prices on the night club menu and then turned to his date and said, "What will you have, my plump little doll?"

Secretaries' Club Holds Tacky Party

The UTMB Secretaries' Club was entertained with a Tacky Party in the home of Mrs. Frances Allen on Monday evening, April 13.

Her home was attractively decorated with arrangements of spring flowers.

Each guest arrived dressed appropriately for the occasion. Mrs. Helen Lemond presided over a brief business meeting after which a fashion show was held. Miss Carline Fuqua won the prize for the best costume.

Mrs. Sue Bell was the winner of the door prize.

Refreshments and a social hour completed the evening's entertainment for Mesdames June Simmons, Mary Sandefer, Blanche Freeman, Ilona Dyer, Helen Lemond, Frances Allen, Sue Bell, Sarah Byars and Misses Carline Fuqua, Mary Anne Jeanes, Dorothy Reams, Rebecca Murphy, Robbie McMinn, and Mary Evelyn Yates.

At the end of the evening, said this guy about his wife, she was so tired she could hardly keep her mouth open.

Boost the Vols

Whish! A mighty swing and ball plops safely in the mit. That was only the first strike as UTMB baseball team gets ready.

Peter Ray Jones of Union offers the traditional handshake to Fred Hummel after the match Hummel won.

Vols Valiant Ten Take It On Shin

UTMB's recently organized track team took its second thrashing in as many contests last Saturday when it journeyed to Jackson to meet Union University in a dual meet.

Only 10 men represented UTMB, and many were forced to enter several events. Being outnumbered and still behind in their training schedule finally caught up with the team, and before the meet was over most of the team had just about run out of gas.

However, all was not a loss, and most of those present felt that a big improvement was shown over the previous week's performance.

Joe Hudson, UTMB, tied with Griffin, Union, in the high jump at 5 ft. 6 in., and Curtiss Shelton, UTMB, took second in the pole vault and third in the broad jump and low hurdles to pace the Vols.

The next scheduled meet is with Southwestern on May 2.

Tennis Team Seeks Fifth Perfect Year

The UTMB Women's Tennis Team begins their fifth undefeated year in a match against Austin Peay State College Thursday, April 16 here. They will be trying for their 29th consecutive win.

Returning lettermen are Helen Cherry, who begins her fourth year on the team, Doris Hettinger, second year, and Harriette Lavenue, third year. Melba Whitesides is a new member of the team.

The tennis schedule is as follows: Austin Peay State College, here, Thursday, April 16; Freed-Hardeman College, there, Tuesday, April 21; Freed-Hardeman College, here, Thursday, April 30; Martin College, here, Friday, May 1; Memphis State University, there, Monday, May 4; Austin Peay State College, there, Thursday, May 7; Memphis State University, here, Saturday, May 9; Martin College, there, Friday, May 19.

Vols Start Season By Beating Lambuth

The UTMB Vols jumped on the Lambuth Eagles for one run in the first to start the 1959 season with a bang. Lambuth came back with one in the top of the second then added two in the sixth to lead 3 to 1.

The Vols went ahead in the latter half of the seventh when they ran across three. They added two in the eighth to close the scoring and clinch the game 6 to 3.

The big seventh inning started with Tull getting a free pass to first on a pitch which hit him, followed by a single by Shaw. Penn walked after Shaw stole second. Logan drove in Tull when the third baseman muffed his grounder and Shaw stole home. Austin struck out and Cagle flew out to the centerfielder. Walker got first on an error, and Penn scored. Cagle struck out to end the frame.

Ogle led the vols at the dish as he collected two singles in three times. Shaw and Hunter each had one hit in two trips. Jerry Daniel had one for one. Tull scored two of the six runs.

Arnette led the Eagles with one hit in three trips and also scored two of the eagles 3 runs.

Jerry Daniel started for the Vols and went 4 innings giving up two hits, one run, two walks and took one strike out. The winning pitcher, Bill Logan, went the latter five giving up two hits, and two unearned runs. He walked only one and struck out 10.

Women Intramurals Head For Showdown

By HARRIETTE LAVENUE

By this time everyone should be settled and ready for another exciting quarter of intramurals. This quarter should prove to be especially active because the competition between the individuals as well as the teams has become greatly intensified. Tourneys Resume In Men's Intramurals

Intramurals have again become active as we enter another quarter. Softball, one of the principle sports of this quarter, is scheduled to start very soon.

In the men's softball tournament the first game will find the Red team pitted against the Brown. Then the following game will be between the Blue and Orange teams. The third and fourth games will be between the White-Green and Yellow-Black. These first four games will complete Round 1.

The mixed badminton tournament, which has already started, has 120 participants and promises to show a lot of action before it ends.

Two other sports, handball and mixed horseshoes, are now open for participants to sign up for. Both are fine sports, and a great deal of fun and friendly competition can be enjoyed by those who participate.

'PERILS OF THE CITY'

chorus in hand-clapping to the infectious rhythm of the finale "Polka Dot".

The element which sets this production apart from the usual melodrama is, of course, the very delightful songs sprinkled throughout. UTMB can well take a special pride in this show since these songs were written by the head of our English Department, Dr. Wilson.

Everyone in the show sooner or later gets to sing. The Heroine (Ann Howell) has a tender ballad plus some duets with the Hero (Jerry Coates) who has a solo of his own. The Comedienne (Alice McBride) declares that she's a "Good Girl Most of the Time" and her male counterpart (Geron Brown) joins her in the "Polka Dot" routine. The Villain (Charles Duncan—who is supported by another villain just as sinister, Bobby Holcomb) tells us that "It's Delightful to be Wicked" while the staunch Hawkshaw the Detective (Jimmy Jinks) explains that he's the one "Who Goes Sleuthing".

Meantime groups small and large assure us that "Love Is Love in a Cubby Hole" and that "It's Always Darkest Just Before the Dawn" (a hilarious burlesque of "grand opera" style). A considerable amount of spice is added to the whole affair by Belle Isle (Connie Brown) and her Cancan Girls (Sally Roberts, Nancy Hurst, Alice Claire Freeman, Paula Prather, Tommie Miles and Lynda Cheatham) with such good advice as "Amour Is Only the French for Love" and a confidential commentary on "Men." Charles Pugh as Maltby the Waiter, Lib Culp as the Landlady and J. Douglass Chandler as the Benefactor, although not given extensive solos to perform, tuned up their pipes effectively when called upon and added much by their characterizations, as did Steve Haynes and Nelson Shankle (two zany detectives).

Last to be mentioned in this review, but certainly not the least in making the show a success were the Wisconsin Warblers (Jack Drumwright, Stan Patterson, and Bill May) who introduced each scene with an appropriate song and who told us in the first act the woeeful story of "Grandma" who "Won't Play Short-Stop Any-more."

Much credit also to the "behind-the-scenes" crew. The directors, Miss Harriet Fulton and David Adams. And a double cheer for the composer Dr. Wilson, who furnished a rich and sonorous piano accompaniment as well. And a pat on the back to all those who worked on sets, costumes, lighting, and make-up, and all the tasks which, put together, made this a smooth running, polished, and thoroughly delightful entertainment.
